Social Project with Mudita Foundation

The collaboration of Shoolini university and Mudita Foundation created an opportunity to initiate conversations about safety with one of the most vulnerable and critical groups - 'youth' - at a large scale. Every interaction of students, faculty and the members from Mudita Foundation has only strengthened our belief that each one of us in the community has a role to play in building a safer world. This endeavor encouraged and enabled students to recognize and acknowledge their role in the fight against abuse, violence and exploitation. The students were divided into teams and were given projects to work upon. The students were given the liberty to choose any topic under abuse, violence and exploitation in our society. The students chosen topics like street sexual harassment, child abuse, online grooming, child labor etc. The students did research on their respective topics and submitted their assignments. After this, a viva voce was conducted for students where the students shared the key learnings from their society and what steps can be taken to minimize such issues within the society.

Number of students participated: - 227
